Middle East Petroleum and Gas Week to bring together OPEC ministers and industry leaders in Dubai

H.H. Sheikh Ahmed bin Saeed Al Maktoum, Chairman of Dubai Civil Aviation Authority and Chairman of Emirates Group, will open the Middle East Petroleum and Gas Week (MPGC Week) 2017 in Dubai on 29th April.

Co-located with the 25th Annual Middle East Petroleum and Gas Conference, MPGC 2017, the MPGC Week 2017 will be held back to back from 29th April– 4th May 2017 in Dubai and will see a convergence of the global oil markets' leading NOCs, IOCs, traders, refiners, petrochemical, storage, financial Institutions and technology companies, in a confluence of dialogue, debate and business interactions at the highest level as the global and Middle East upstream and downstream oil and gas markets re-emergence from the recent turbulence.

Officials from the UAE, including Dr. Matar Al Neyadi, Under-Secretary of the UAE Ministry of Energy, oil ministers and representatives of members of the Organisation of the Petroleum Exporting Countries, OPEC, will participate in the event which will be organised by Conference Connection Inc. and will be hosted by Emirates National Oil Company.

The week-long event will bring optional events and feature product conferences, executive briefings, and workshops.
