The Emirates Maritime Arbitration Centre returns to the Fujairah Bunkering and Fuel Oil Forum (FUJCON) between 25-27 March 2019 as an exhibiting sponsor. EMAC's participation at the forum began with a breakfast presentation on 25 March, to further explain to bunker stakeholders how the Centre is available to support bunker dispute management

"We are delighted to be back to FUJCON this year; the forum provides a unique platform to bring key players together to drive the transformation and growth forward in the maritime sector. We welcome the opportunity to share knowledge with the delegates, both local and international, and to showcase the ways in which arbitration and mediation services provided by EMAC can benefit the industry as a whole", said Mr. Majid Obaid bin Bashir, Acting Chairman and Secretary General, EMAC.

Considered the Middle East’s most important bunkering forum, FUJCON is the anchor event held during Fujairah Bunkering Week, a dedicated professional training week comprising a conference, bunker courses, briefings, lab visits and off-shore anchorage site visits to the Port of Fujairah. The event forum welcomes attendees from over 50 countries, covering the entire supply chain of the bunkering industry. This conference has successfully raised the profile of Fujairah as a renowned international port of call, cementing the Emirate’s position as one of the world’s top three bunkering ports and a global hub for crude and product oil storage.
