EVENT SUMMARY

FROM REGIONAL TO GLOBAL: CONVERGENCE OF LNG MARKETS AND IMPLICATIONS FOR ASIA

The LNG Supplies for Asian Markets (LNGA) Conference is an annual dedicated event in the region which creates a platform for discussions, dialogue and debate focusing on rapid changes in the Global LNG markets. It is organized by The Conference Connection Group and brings together all senior decision makers responsible for LNG & Natural Gas from gas producing, consuming, marketing and distribution groups from both corporations and governments.

LNGA 2019 was held at ONE°15 Marina Sentosa Cove, Singapore from 5 – 8 March 2019. It brought all key decision makers and senior management in the LNG & Natural Gas industry from 25 countries worldwide. The theme of the conference was: From Regional to Global: Convergence of LNG Markets and Implications for Asia covered by a select group of 42 experts from around the region as well as from Australia, USA, UK, Poland and France.

The opening session for LNGA 2019 on 6 March 2019, had a stellar cast, including Dr Koh Poh Koon, Senior Minister of State, Ministry of Trade & Industry, Singapore who opened the conference with remarks on the robust growth in the global LNG market being led by increased demand in Asia. The Minister also commented that Singapore, with its infrastructure and extensive ecosystem of LNG-related services, will continue to enhance its pro-enterprise policies and work closely with the LNG industry to expand their presence here. This was followed by an opening address by Mr Masato Sasaki, Director, Petroleum & Natural Gas Division, Ministry of Economy, Trade and Industry, Japan. They were joined by the session chairman, Dr. Fereidun Fesharaki, Chairman of FGE.

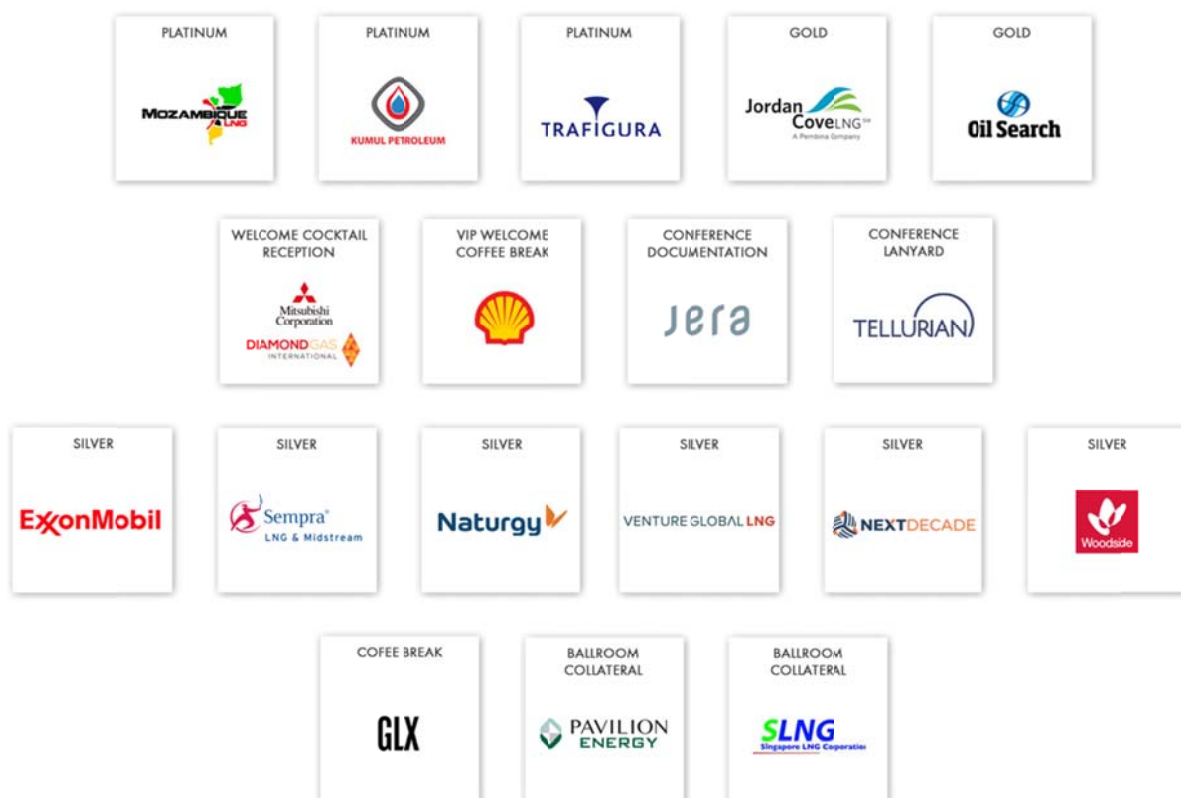

Over 200 attendees from 26 countries were represented at LNGA 2019, including the Asia Pacific, Middle East, Europe and USA, with the largest delegations from Singapore, USA and Australia. The 2019 event featured a large delegation from USA reflecting its growing importance in the global LNG markets, especially in Asia which still accounts for 75% of global imports. The strongest reasons delegates cited as to why they attended the conference were the networking opportunities and the program.

LNGA 2019 witnessed the gathering of many regular attendees, as well as numerous new players, thus preserving the diversity of companies and country. Despite the volatile nature of current oil prices and the numerous competitive events on LNG being held in the interim, LNGA 2019 continued to provide an insightful discussion and successfully address the critical issues of the current and future LNG markets and the impact of the prevailing oil price scenario.

The conference took place at a challenging time with the LNG market going through one of its most fundamental changes. Also featured and much welcomed was a special LNG Veterans Panel comprising of key veterans in the LNG industry as well as addition of LNG Trading Panel with major key LNG traders forming the panel.

We would like to pay special thanks to Energy Market Authority, Enterprise Singapore and Singapore Exhibition & Convention Bureau who supported the conference.

LNGA 2019 enjoyed outstanding industry support from a record number of corporate sponsors. We extend our sincere thanks and appreciation to our following sponsors:
